Please note that Business School exchanges team does not play any role in the allocation of exchange places managed by Trinity Global for the partner institutions listed below. Accordingly, we kindly ask that you do not contact us requesting that we advocate on your behalf to Trinity Global regarding exchange allocations or personal circumstances.	Please note that each partner may provide updates on their module availabilities, so please do not assume any guarantees and always check host institution's web pages and other information available to applicants via Trinity Global.
Please note that, based on correspondence received through the Business Exchanges mailbox in July 2026, Reciprocity students at UCLA are not permitted to enrol in Business coursework. Students seeking to undertake a Business major as part of their exchange programme should therefore explore other University of California campuses where such coursework is available.	Please note that additional semesters (or full-year exchanges) beyond those listed below may also be suitable for study. Students are encouraged to consult the Trinity Global team and to investigate module availability for visiting students through the host institution's website and other relevant sources. As Business Exchanges does not have direct contact with these partner institutions, we are unable to comment beyond the information presented below.
